

From: Dan Miller

Sent: October 23, 2003

Subject: Clarification of Stations shown on R/W Monumentation Staking Plans/Survey

This is to clarify what stations and offsets are to be listed in the table(s) for the new right of way corners that are portrayed on the sheets of the Right of Way Monumentation Staking Plans, and the Right of Way Monumentation Surveys.

It is our policy that the station and offset shown in the table for each corner should match exactly what is shown for that corner on the R/W plans.

Although many projects have only one reference centerline that is used as the basis of the stations and offsets for the new right of way corners, many other projects have more than one reference centerline. In either situation, the new note added below the point table that says "Refer to the R/W Plans for the basis of stationing" is sufficient to guide the reader.

For those points that have a dual station and offset listed, which commonly occurs at TI locations, we are requiring that the table only needs to list one station and offset. If you choose to list both, that is acceptable also.